

Sorrento Lingue Internships Programs

A University degree is no longer enough. Today's increasingly competitive job market demands that students not only possess high academic credentials but prior work experience. Time spent interning is often an investment returned immediately through greater employment opportunities, increased level of work experience and higher salaries. Work experience and language skills are usually cultivated and enhanced by international experience. As a result, Sorrento Lingue is willing to offer one student to both learn a language and gain experience in an international internship .
